

Corbett Harrison shares how he can print the Writing Trait Sticky Notes on actual Post-it™ Notes.

5 steps to printing on Post-it™ Notes:

- I often get asked, “Don’t you jam your printer doing that?” True story, I only jammed the printer one time, but it was easy enough to fix it. I shut off the printer and carefully pulled out the bad page. Started over! No problem!
- My best suggestion to prevent printer jams is to over-lap the Post-it™ Notes as demonstrated in the 3rd photo below.
- I train my students to do this, and they actually come in on their own time to print these for me.

Step #1: Open the desired sticky note template using the link on-line so that it’s on your computer screen.

Step #2: Print enough copies on paper to satisfy the number of sticky notes you want to print. Each page you print will eventually yield six sticky notes.

Step #3: Use six 3 x 3 Post-it™ Notes to carefully cover up the six sticky notes that were printed on the page. Overlap the bottom of each note with a tiny portion of the next note’s sticky portion to hold them in place.

Step #4: Place the sheet in your printer’s feeder tray. Some feeder trays ask for the page to be face up—like mine—but some are face down. Consult your printer’s instructions, if unsure.

Step #5: Click on “print” again, and—Voila!—this time the trait checklists will appear on the actual sticky notes.

© 2015 Corbett Harrison, Educational Consultants, LLC (<http://corbettharrison.com>) All rights reserved.

Visit Corbett’s Products Page to acquire his “Critical Traits” workshop materials, which include editable versions of these Sticky Note templates.