

An original piece of student writing inspired by one of WritingFix's Digital Photo Prompts

photo taken by elementary student, Jacob Sammons

The Key to Freedom

A poem by Emily, grade 4

There is a fence that binds me.
Through all the world I see,
It's dark then it's light,
It's day then it's night,
And now I find the key.

What do you like about Emily's writing style? Which writing trait(s) does she excel with?

What story or poem might you write inspired by this photograph?