

An original piece of student writing inspired by one of WritingFix's Digital Photo Prompts

photo taken by middle school student, Nicole Gallant

Finger Music

a poem by Cara, fifth grade writer

Fingers dance on the keys.
Flashes of colored dancing figures,
Like miniature men they
Spring, pounce, and leap.
Music like no other sounds
From the piano.
Octave to octave, key to key,
Heaven rains down angels of music
Upon the Baldwin.
Violins, harps, and flutes
Harmonize with the striking keys.
Symbols dot the page,
Forte and piano,
Legato and staccato.
They dance on the keys,
Flashes of dancing figures,
Like miniature men they
Spring, pounce, and leap.

What do you like about Cara's writing style? Which writing trait(s) does she excel with?

What story or poem might you write inspired by this photograph?