

photo taken by teacher, Christina Rhodes

After the Wedding

a poem by Jennika, fifth grade writer

After the wedding a little girl stands
With a cheerful dress on and plays with her hands.

The little girl is exhausted
And drinks from the faucet.
She has a big smile on her face
And ran to her mom at a good pace.
After that she jumped on the couch
When a mouse scurried across the ground.
She was really tired
So she took a little nap,
Then she woke up and ran to the tire swing,
And looked at her dress. It was a mess.
That little girl was me.

What do you like about Jennika's writing style? Which writing trait(s) does she excel with?

What story or poem might you write inspired by this photograph?