

	Who or What	Figurative language, descriptive details, and any dialog that may take place to bring the event to life and lend voice to your character.	Transition words to help your ideas “flow” smoothly.
Character/Point of View/Perspective: Choose a point of view to write from to continue and finish the story			first, second, third, equally important, besides, furthermore, also, again, next, to begin with, as well as,  in addition to, more, even more, more than that, lastly, others, finally, for example, for instance, that is to say, namely, just as, specifically, in other words, to be sure, in the same manner, to be specific, such as, this can be made clearer, this can be explained, in fact, in conclusion, to sum up, for these reasons, because of all this, in summary, in the end, finally
First Event: Leading to the solution of the problem in the story.
Second Event: Leading to the solution of the problem in the story.
Third Event (optional): Leading to the solution of the problem in the story.
Solution: Leading to the conclusion of the story, which in turn links back to the beginning of the story.
Conclusion: This should link back to the beginning of the story or tie it all together.

Story Map

Main Characters – Who

Secondary Characters - Who

Setting(s) – Where and When

Problem:

Events that took place to page 12 in book: